Blended Learning

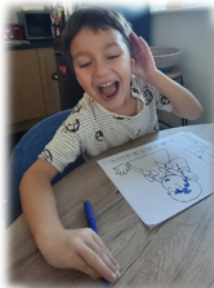

I am absolutely overwhelmed by the incredible learning I have seen both at home and in school. I am also amazed at the support and care everyone has shown in these challenging times. It is clear to see, whether at home or in school, everyone is trying their very best and working so hard. The support from our school community and the resilience everyone is showing is so impressive. You are ALL doing the best for your children and we appreciate how hard you are all working.

We know every family has its own unique circumstance and challenges and this situation IS NOT EASY. We are here to help you get through this so please keep in touch with us if you are worried about ANYTHING. The staff continue to provide support for all of our children and we are working hard to get it right for every individual situation. Keep doing what you are doing - we will get through this!

Learning At Home

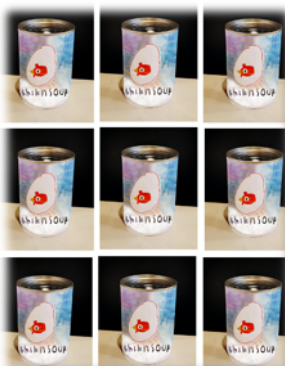

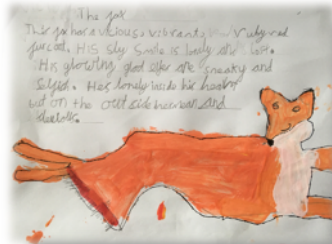

Here are some examples of the home learning that is being sent in to us. Keep reading, keep talking, keep going for walks.

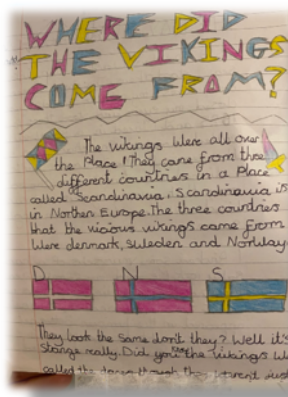

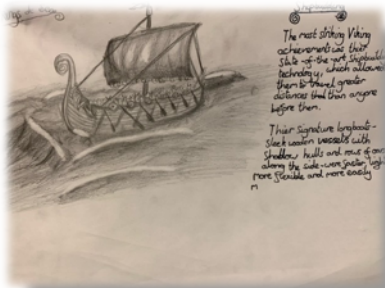

Learning At Home

The owl and the pussy-cat were in a beautiful ring-dance.
They took some honey and plenty of money wrapped up in a sash for the owl looked up to the stars above
And said come to a small star
O lovely pussy O pussy my love
What a beautiful pussy you are you are
you are
What a beautiful pussy you are!

Wellness Wednesday

The week beginning 1st February is Children's Mental Health Week 2021 which is incredibly fitting considering the current situation. With this in mind, we have decided that Wednesday 3rd February will be Wellness Wednesday. Children do not need to wear school uniform but will be involved in Activities that make you feel good such as:

Board games
Card games
Art
Cooking – baking or making healthy smoothies
Yoga
Exercise
Fresh Air
Meditation/breathing
Colouring in, dot to dots
Watch a family film or animation
Listen to music
Dance

Things I don't want to lose

Poems written by Year 6 in December on the theme
'things I do not want to lose'

Imagine it

Imagination

Galaxy imagination

The imagination is in my head

Magical

Mystical

Endless

My imagination is aquamarine turquoise

I hear chimpanzee noises

And I

I take images from my brain and put them on paper

I feel joy from it

Galaxy imagination

The relationship I have with my imagination

Makes me creative

You for me

My sweet, scary Albie.
I love your dear smile,
Sleeping in my bed, hugging me.

Your cute little dimples, ice blue eyes.
You are helpful and loving, listen to me, kiss me.
You are wild and dramatic, this makes you.

Pink and blue, mixes of purples, swimming with you, I love you.
Laughter and cries, I hug you as you tell, you change in a snap, it's you.
My heart always warms as you run to me, as you laugh and smile.
And I can't live without you, my dear brother.
I have never loved as I love you, demon you are, I love you
My sweet scary Albie,
You are my hero, you save me, you hug me, you are my brother.

Memory

She is in my mind
She is confident, dangerous and fierce

If my memory was a colour, she would be black and white, darkness and kindness.

If she was a sound, she would be silence.

If she was a feeling, she would be confident

and I

I am thinking

I'm angry, she is too

Memory

She controls me.

Please don't fade away

Memory,
Is all I think
Within my head.

Don't stop smiling
You are beloved
Forever loyal

Memories are yellow
All I hear is laughter
Knee-deep in nostalgia

And I twirling through

You may have passed but you're never gone.

Memory
Please don't fade away

My grandfather

My grandfather was the greatest person that ever lived – he was kind, loving and joyful.

Golf was his favourite thing to do and he was amazing at it.

Nice smiles appear on his face when look at him,
He is kind to everyone he meets even if they are mean
He had a strong Spanish accent.

Blue surrounds him in a delightful picture,
We are both laughing, as we sit
I'm happy when I'm with him.

And now the thing he sits in is a coffin,
Sitting with him on a gravestone

I feel good when I see pictures of him.

My grandfather sitting in a hospital as cancer fights him.
He makes me happy to know he is in a safe place now.

Ocean class

They're surprising the lot of them
They're with me always in my heart
There are the amazing ones,
The caring ones,
The welcoming ones

Some are blue
Some are gold
I can always hear laughter
Buzzing in my ears
When I'm with them I laugh
I feel safe from fear
They take me in and make me feel strong

Ocean class
One
And one together
