

Design a Totem

Native American tradition shows that everyone is associated with nine different animals that will guide them how to live their life.

Can you design a Totem that represents you?

Uluru

What can you discover about Uluru?

Why is it so important to the Indigenous Australian people?

How was it formed?

What stories can you find about it?

Tasmania

There are a variety of weird and wonderful animals in Australia and Tasmania.

Can you draw, paint or create some of them?

There is even an extinct Tasmanian Tiger!

Ships from long ago

What did the ships look like in the time that explorers were sailing from Europe to Australia?

Can you draw or build a model of one?

Mystery Home Learning Task

Use your imagination and come up with an idea of your own to share with the class.

Indigenous Art

Experiment with natural colours to make a piece of art work with Aboriginal or Native American designs.

Could you produce a picture using a computer App?

Native American Tribes

There are many different tribes in the USA descended from the indigenous people.

Find out more about them and present your findings how you choose.

Aboriginal Dreamtime

There are many legends. What can you find out?

Could you retell them to the class?

Shamans

The spiritual leaders of the Native American tribes were the medicine men and women of the village or tribe and were sometimes called Shaman. They were considered wise and to have a special relationship with nature and the many gods that Native Americans believed in.

These shaman often used herbs to help heal sick people. They also called on gods and spirits to help the tribe for things like growing crops or when they were going in to battle.